Dear Padre,

My church spends too much on flower arrangements. Are they really needed?

Flowers and plants in homes and other buildings create a sense of beauty and welcome. They also help lift the spirits of the infirm in hospitals and the pall of sadness from those who mourn a loved one. Similarly, flowers in churches awaken our senses, embody hospitality, and enliven our spirits. Moreover, living flowers and plants serve “as a reminder of the gift of life God has given to the human community” (“Built of Living Stones,” 129, USCCB, Along with other church adornments both fixed and movable—flowers enkindle in the worshiper a feeling of what St. Peter said at the transfiguration, “Lord, it is good that we are here” (Matthew 17:4, Luke 9:33). They add dignity to the sacred space and visually express the holiness of the mysteries celebrated there. “Sacred buildings and requisites for divine worship should be truly worthy and beautiful and be signs and symbols of heavenly realities” (General Instruction of the Roman Missal,

Nevertheless, “floral decoration should always show moderation and be arranged around the altar rather than on the altar table” (GIRM 305). Restraint in floral decoration is the norm during Advent. It’s forbidden during Lent, except on Laetare Sunday and feasts, although simple compositions other than flowers are permissible.

To control costs, some parishes rely on volunteers with flower-arranging skills. Arrangements left behind at funerals and funeral homes and from church weddings are also offered for the benefit of the faithful.

Reflections on 5th Sunday’s Reading Today
The Prophet Isaiah speaks to people steeped in anguish —those “in the darkness,” stuck in “the gloom.” His advice? “Bestow your bread on the hungry.” His point: No matter how bleak our present state, the fact is, “you are the salt of the earth,” In other words, despite crushing distress, we are the hungry. So too, we are “the light of the world,” and our light breaks forth like the dawn” as we satisfy the afflicted.” “Then light shall rise for you in the darkness”; our wound “shall quickly be healed.” Which is why we make our own Saint Paul’s stunning resolve “to know nothing except Jesus Christ crucified.” For actively sharing in the misery of others is the sure way out of our own,

ALTAR ROSARY SOCIETY

Pope Francis Speaks to FAMILIES!!

Trials lead to God's Glory

We must undergo many trials if we are to enter the kingdom of God (Acts 14:22). The journey of the Church and our own personal journeys as Christians are not always easy; They meet with difficulties and trials. To follow the Lord, to let his Spirit transform the shadowy parts of our lives, our ungodly ways of acting, and cleanse us of our sins, is to set out on a path with many obstacles, both in the world around us but also part of the path that leads to God's glory, just as they were for Jesus who was glorified on the cross; we will always encounter them in life!

Do not be discouraged! We have the power of the Holy Spirit to overcome these trials.
